DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-2 are rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

The claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. The claim(s) must be in one sentence form only. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited.

The claims have numerous occurrences where the structure, while intended to be positively claimed, has not been claimed. The metes and bounds of the claim limitations cannot be understood.

Some examples are:

In claim 1 lines 2-3, "connected with a shaft and a rotary body connected with one end of treadles"; "on opposite sides" is not operatively connecting the treadles to the rotary body.

In line 6, "an accessory rod connected with a shaft" isn't a proper positive recitation of structure. Likewise, see line 7, "the third connecting rod"; line 10 "a second connecting rod".

Additionally, the claims need to recite an elliptical path, as the "oval-track" is less accurate and less recognized in the elliptical exercise field.

Specification

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because of minor grammatical formalities. The Abstract states "on the tail", "move in oval track", and "rocker arms moves" which are awkward and incorrect phrases. Correction is required. See MPEP

§ 608.01(b).

4. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

5. There are numerous minor grammatical errors. Some examples are: "on the tail", "move in oval track", and "rocker arms moves" which are awkward and incorrect phrases.

Appropriate correction is required.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
